CHECK BEFORE YOU BUY

- [ ] Look for pink crust at the water pump
  Dried pink coolant running down the front of the engine from the water-pump weep hole is the classic 3UR sign. One owner's build thread notes the engine is known for water-pump weeps around 100,000 miles, and that the pump usually gives plenty of warning.
- [ ] Scan for air-injection codes
  A check-engine light with VSC and traction-control lights on together often turns out to be the secondary air-injection system, such as code P2438 for the pressure sensor. It's emissions-related and the truck drives normally, but a seller who has cleared codes is hiding a repair.
- [ ] If the suspension has been touched, check the KDSS valves
  After a lift or shock swap, the two KDSS valves must be closed again. One IH8MUD owner found a shop had left them fully open and the truck rolled alarmingly on uneven roads. Check them with a 5 mm hex key, and test-drive on a winding road.
- [ ] Listen for a driveline clunk
  A thunk when stopping and pulling away usually isn't the transmission. Unsealed 4X4 traces it to dry universal joints, especially on trucks that cross water. Ask when the driveshafts were last greased.
- [ ] Check the oil filter cap
  The 3UR has a plastic oil filter housing cap that wrenches round off and that can warp or crack with age. Look for leaks and chewed edges.
- [ ] Know which phase you're buying
  2008–2011: six-speed, 3.90 gears. 2013–2015: facelift with Multi-Terrain Select, Turn Assist and cameras. 2016–2021: eight-speed, 3.30 gears, bigger brakes, Toyota Safety Sense. There's no 2012 in the US.
- [ ] Ask about towing
  KBB lists 8,500 lb for 2008 and 8,100 lb for 2016–2021. A truck that pulled a heavy trailer for years deserves a closer look at the transmission fluid, the brakes and the rear springs.
- [ ] Diesel (non-US) 200s: injectors, DPF and airbox
  On the 1VD-FTV, Unsealed's big three are injector problems (rough idle, smoke, poor economy), DPF and EGR trouble on 2015-on trucks, and dust getting past the airbox seal.

YEARS TO KNOW

2008–2011	RECALL	Model years covered by the floor-mat pedal and TPMS recalls
2013	SWEET SPOT	First facelift (released December 2011): previously optional kit made standard; Multi-Terrain Select, Multi-Terrain Monitor, Off-Road Turn Assist and Trailer Sway Control added. Unsealed 4X4 calls 2012–15 the sweet spot for many buyers, and IH8MUD owners point US shoppers to 2013–15 trucks

2015–16	BEWARE	Diesel markets only: the late-2015 facelift adds a DPF to the 1VD-FTV V8. Unsealed 4X4 reports DPF trouble and a Toyota recall on 2015–16 diesels. US petrol trucks never had a DPF
2018–2019	RECALL	Model years covered by the Denso fuel-pump recall

IS IT THE REAL THING?

- ☐ Engine
  Every US 200 is a 5.7 L 3UR-FE V8 (URJ200). The 4.5 L 1VD-FTV twin-turbo diesel V8, the 4.6 1UR-FE, the 4.7 2UZ-FE and the 4.0 V6 were sold in other markets only.
- ☐ Pre- vs post-2016
  2016-on trucks have the 8-speed automatic, a new front fascia and grille, and headlights with daytime running lamps. 2008–2015 trucks have the 6-speed.
- ☐ Heritage Edition
  2020–2021 Heritage Editions are five-seat trucks; 1,200 were built for the 2020 model year. The badge is easy to copy, so check the window sticker or the dealer build sheet.
- ☐ Lexus twin
  The Lexus LX 570 shares the platform and recalls. Values for the two are tracked separately.
